

The demand for change is steadily moving down Africa judging from the reception given to Mugabe and other African leaders attending the installation for another term of Ugandan perpetual President Museveni. Their motorcade was assailed by stone-throwing protesters shouting ‘Go to hell dictators’ and ‘You dictators: we are tired of you’. ( <http://www.swradioafrica.com/news130511/convoystoned130511.htm>

). But pictures of Mugabe’s fawning obeisance to Museveni show his desperation to be at the party – any party! – at whatever cost.

For Vigil supporters it was further evidence that Mugabe and Zanu-PF hardliners have still not understood that the days of dictators have gone. Their problem is that President Zuma does not agree with them. The chasm between Zanu-PF and Zuma was clearly illustrated this week:

1. The Zanu-PF Politburo repeated on Wednesday that elections would be held this year without fail.

2. But Zuma’s international relations advisor Lindiwe Zulu said: ‘categorically and totally, Zimbabwe will not have elections in 2011’. ( http://www.zimbabwesituation.com/may14\_2011.html#Z21

SADC, AU must assert authority)

- Editor's Comment: Elections -

For Mugabe’s sake, the constitution-making process must be concluded early and will have to include the proposal from Chegutu that government critics should be killed. That should solve the problem – especially if the suggestion from Makonde is also included in the new constitution ‘media critical of the government should be banned’ ( http://www.zimbabwesituation.com/may14\_2011.html#Z11 responses on media raise eyebrows). So much for the Constitutional Outrage Programme . . .

– Constitution

Other points

· With Mugabe now committing suicide by defying SADC, the Vigil launched a clearance sale of our ‘Mugabe Must Go’ bangles. Our notice advises customers to ‘Buy now before it’s too late’.

· The Vigil was glad to escape the threatened rain because we were not sure how we could put up our tarpaulin. Westminster Council has removed the two handsome lamp posts between which we stretched a rope to hang the tarpaulin.

As it is, it taxed our ingenuity to put up our banners and posters without these supports.

· The traditional English dancers the Morris Men made their annual visit to us and gave us a good show. Vigil management team member Fungayi Mabhunu drew a laugh from them when he said ‘it was good to see Englishmen dancing like Zimbabweans’.

· We were also glad to be joined by one of the founders of the Vigil Jean-Francois Mercier who is now based in South Africa.

- It was welcome to get an encouraging email from Mac McArthur in Canada. He has had an exhibition in Harare of his photographic interpretation of Shona sculptures – see: <http://www.shout-africa.com/events-parties/zimbabwe-shona-sculpture-scan-photography-exhibition-opens-in-harare/>
- Thanks to ROHR members: Maureen Mapfumo, Charity Nyamuzuwe, Iline Manhunzi, Catherine Tewo and Paradzai Mapfumo who brought soft drinks for thirsty Vigil supporters.
- Joke of the week from Bill Watch of 12th May: ‘Tuesday’s sitting was the Senate’s first for six weeks – it has not met since 31st March. The sitting lasted two hours before the Senate adjourned for another eight weeks’. Crisis – what crisis?
- Photos of the protest on 30th April against the Swazi King’s visit to London are now on our photo website (check: <http://www.flickr.com/photos/zimbabwevigil/sets/72157626599868179/>).
