

With only four days to go before the elections, the Vigil 'commends' President Mugabe on his 'credible' re-election for another 5 year term as he approaches his 90th birthday.

Despite overwhelming evidence that the elections on 31st July are being rigged, the SADC 'Summit' on 20th July had four 'commendations' and a 'credible' in its brief four-point communique released after meeting to consider complaints by the MDC about the election arrangements. For connoisseurs of bullshit, here is the communique in full:

'8. On the Republic of Zimbabwe

8.1 The Summit was pleased to note that all the political parties have committed themselves to ensuring that the forthcoming elections are held in a peaceful environment. Summit encouraged the Government, all political parties and leaders to continue with these commendable efforts which will help realize credible elections.

8.2 The Summit commended the Government of Zimbabwe for extending an invitation to SADC Member States to deploy election observers and the manner in which these (sic) Observer Mission has been received in Zimbabwe.

8.3 The Summit commended H.E. Jacob Zuma, President of the Republic of South Africa and SADC Facilitator for his tireless efforts in ensuring that the Zimbabwe political stakeholders hold successful elections.

8.4 The Summit noted the problems that arose during the special vote on 14-15 July 2013 and would like to commend ZEC for taking these up as challenges to be overcome on the 31st of July, and called upon all political parties to cooperate as fully as possible with ZEC in order to ensure that it is able to meet these challenges.'

The Vigil 'commends' the observers who went to such pains to see that the elections were 'credible', including President Zuma's former wife, the AU Commission Chairperson, Nkosazana Dlamini-Zuma, who astonished Morgan Tsvangirai by saying he had told her he was 'happy' with the election environment

(see:

AU speaks on Zim elections –

Tribute must also be paid to President Zuma himself and SADC's 'commendable' support for the elections without which the people of Zimbabwe would not be able to look forward to such a 'credible' disaster.

The Vigil further 'commends' the security forces who ensured that President Mugabe was 'credibly' returned to power.

Lastly, to the UK, the EU and the US: the Vigil was impressed by the weasel words by which they abandoned the standards of 'free and fair' for the slippery slopes of 'credible'. We look to them to support President Mugabe's 'credible' and 'commendable' nomination for the Nobel Economics, Peace and Literature Prizes.

The Vigil's dyspeptic view is supported by the comprehensive account of Zanu PF's rigging which appeared in the UK's Daily Mail (see: <http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2371951/P roof-Mugabe-buys-elections-Astonishing-documents-evidence-neutralising-voters-millions-paid -systematic-rigging-smuggling-blood-diamonds--ensure-tyrant-89-clings-power.html>).

We were further persuaded by the analysis of SADC's dilemma by Herbert Moyo in the Zimbabwean Independent (see: Sadc fails to keep up reforms momentum – http://www.zimbabwesituation.com/jul27a_2013.html#Z4) and by Simon Allison's piece in the Daily Maverick (see: Analysis: Maybe we expect too much from SADC on Zimbabwe – <http://www.dailymaverick.co.za/article/2013-07-24-analysis-maybe-we-expect-too-much-from-sadc-on-zimbabwe/>).

Other points

- President Mugabe, in the form of Fungayi Mabhunu in our Mugabe mask, was again at the Vigil to stuff ballot boxes. He had with him two large black bags marked 'Nikuv', the Israeli company being paid millions to help the Zanu PF vote riggers. We were visited by a news team from the BBC for a report for Radio 4's 'The World this Weekend' on Sunday at 1.30 pm (
